The Ahu Bay Experience

Alongside this life of easy leisure at Ahu Bay lives magical wild sea creatures with an equally chill demeanor. It is home to the charming 'Olive Ridley' sea turtle, an endemic breed in Sri Lanka. Each year in the months of December to February our guests catch sight of turtles returning to our beaches to lay their eggs and immerse into the open waves at the same time, moving between eco systems using the light of the stars and the moon as their guide as the light reflects from the ocean. They are our gentle bridge between our Ahu Bay beach house and the wild. Preserving this unique eco-system is in line with Ahu Bay values. Ahu Bay takes great care to show guests the importance of protecting and respecting these beautifully resilient and serene creatures with in-house breeding and preservation programmes.
